How is IBHR useful for researchers, teachers, students?

The International Bibliography of Humanism and the Renaissance (IBHR) is the leading international reference tool for early modern studies, trusted by scholars worldwide. It provides detailed bibliographic information on books, journal articles, essays, and book chapters published from 1965 to the present day.

IBHR enables you to quickly and easily discover what has been written on specific authors, texts, subjects, places, and historical periods. It is particularly valuable for researchers seeking to deepen their understanding of the Renaissance and early modern era, identify gaps in the literature, or refine the scope of ongoing projects.

What makes IBHR unique is its comprehensive coverage of the intellectual and cultural history of Europe from 1500 to 1700—including philosophy, theology, literature, art, science, and political thought. It also includes specialized content on humanism and its influence across disciplines, making it indispensable for research in cultural, social, and intellectual history. Its international scope ensures access to scholarship published in multiple languages and from diverse academic traditions.

Reflections on using IBHR

« La base bibliographique met l'accent sur l'histoire et la culture européenne couvrant non seulement le XVI<sup>e</sup> siècle mais également le XVII<sup>e</sup> siècle (sachant que l'IMB et la BCM couvrent du IV<sup>e</sup> au XV<sup>e</sup> siècle). De plus, elle englobe une gamme de matières (...) allant de l'histoire religieuse à travers la philosophie, les sciences et l'art, l'histoire militaire et politique, les études sociales et de genre. (...) La base comprend également des publications sur les interactions européennes avec le reste du monde à travers les explorations, la colonisation, l'esclavage ou les missions chrétiennes. Elle inclut des études de réception et l'enseignement au XXI<sup>e</sup> des textes écrits pendant la période chronologique concernée par l'IBHR, ainsi que l'herméneutique moderne. L'IBHR incorpore des publications écrites en différentes langues, comme l'anglais, le français, l'allemand, le grecque, l'espagnol, l'italien, le portugais, l'hongrois, le roumain, le néerlandais et le japonais. »
