

Explore the full potential of BREPOLiS Latin

With BREPOLiS Latin, the rich heritage of Latin literature—from the earliest literary compositions to contemporary writings—is right at your fingertips. The full-text databases now benefit from a fundamental update, including an improved data structure and a more user-friendly interface.

We're excited to announce a major update to three of our Latin full-text databases in particular: the Archive of Celtic-Latin Literature (ACLL), the Aristoteles Latinus Database (ALD), and the Monumenta Germaniae Historica (eMGH). These enhancements bring the same innovations in data structure, interface, and accessibility that users already enjoy in the Library of Latin Texts (LLT).

SPECIAL OFFER

Extended Trial Offer: 16 months of access for the price of 6

To celebrate these updates, we are delighted to offer an extended trial subscription for 2026-2027.

Subscribers to LLT /LLT+ can activate an extended trial to these databases as early as September 1st 2026 through the end of 2027 at a price approximately 50% lower than the default subscription rate:

- ▶ Subscribers to LLT: Upgrade to LLT+ (including Database of Latin Dictionaries), or to any combination with ACLL, ALD, or eMGH, or to BREPOLiS Latin (incl. ACLL, ALD, eMGH, CDS and DLD)
- ▶ Subscribers to LLT+: Upgrade to any combination with ACLL, ALD, or eMGH, or to BREPOLiS Latin (incl. ACLL, ALD, eMGH, CDS and DLD)

Cross-Database Searchtool for free in 2027

We are pleased to offer you free access to the Cross-Database Searchtool (CDS), an interface that allows you to search the LLT simultaneously with the ALD, the ACLL, and the eMGH. Normally, the CDS requires an additional subscription except for subscribers to the BREPOLiS Latin bundle. Free access only applies to the Latin full-text databases you subscribe to.

Please note that this special offer applies only to new subscriptions (no renewals) and to institutional customers. From 2028 onwards, the regular subscription prices apply if you wish to renew.

Important Updates

Archive of Celtic-Latin Literature (ACLL) Aristoteles Latinus Database (ALD) Monumenta Germaniae Historica (eMGH)

New interface: These Latin databases now benefit from an updated search environment already available in the Library of Latin Texts.

Custom corpus creation: The new search interface offers enhanced possibilities for defining and exploring your own corpus of texts.

Advanced result filtering: The new data structure allows users to filter results by Author, Work, Century, and Taxonomy (genre, subject area, and geographical origin).

Instrumenta: Translation suggestions and morphological analyses, including direct links to the Database of Latin Dictionaries (DLD) [separate subscription required].

Sources Chrétiennes Online (SCO)

Completely redesigned interface: Following the major update of the Library of Latin Texts and its associated databases, Sources Chrétiennes Online now also benefits from a new interface.

Enhanced search experience: The database is equipped with more powerful search tools based on enriched metadata, enabling improved filtering options as well as new vocabulary analysis features.

The Autumn 2026 update is now available, adding ten new volumes to the collection and further expanding its coverage from the early Church to medieval Christianity and beyond. The release includes major patristic authors, conciliar documents, hagiographical literature, and a remarkable collection of early Chinese Christian texts.

Example of a text search screen with dedicated fields (e.g. person, taxonomy, century, etc.). The search fields can be combined using Boolean operators.

Dedicated search fields for person, work, identification number, and more.

Library of Latin Texts (LLT)

Database of Latin Dictionaries (DLD)

The latest update of the Library of Latin Texts (LLT) adds more than 3 million words, bringing the total corpus to over 173 million words. The update introduces 82 new works, 7 new editions of existing texts, and 2 enriched thematic dossiers. The Database of Latin Dictionaries (DLD) offers access to 29 dictionaries, giving an immediate overview of Latin vocabulary, from Antiquity up to the present day. Linked to these dictionaries is a database of (currently) more than 95,000 lemmas.

- New citation module: Citation data is now integrated into our bibliographies and available at two levels: directly in the results list and on the detailed record page of each entry.
- Information provided: The total number of citations received by a publication, along with the full bibliographic references of the citing publications.
- Benefits for research: Greater visibility of a publication's scholarly impact; easier identification of related research; and more efficient navigation through the academic literature.
- Bibliographies concerned: L'Année Philologique, International Medieval Bibliography, Bibliography of Medieval Civilisation, Bibliography of Humanism and the Renaissance, Index Religiosus, and Bibliography of British and Irish History.

 PERSPECTI

In January 2027, a new database will be made available to the academic community: Perspecti will be the first database to collect and connect metadata relating to research in the Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, including references and citations. Its aim is to enhance bibliodiversity across languages and publication types, while also improving discoverability, visibility, and impact assessment in disciplines that remain underrepresented in current bibliometric analyses. Perspecti will also contribute to creating a more unified and less fragmented overview of research in the humanities.

Our Encyclopaedias now benefit from a new interface

Accessibility-compliant and easier to use than ever: discover the new interface of our encyclopedic databases Lexikon des Mittelalters Online, Dictionnaire d'Histoire et de Géographie Ecclésiastiques Online, Dictionnaires des Philosophes Antiques Online, and Europa Sacra Online.

PAUL DIACRE

PAUL DIACRE. diacre, poète, grammairien, historiographe, né entre 720 et 730, décédé un 13 avril, entre 797 et 799.

On admet généralement que Paul Diacre, dont le nom vernaculaire est Paul Warnefrid, est un moine lombard bénédictin, historien et poète. Né entre 720 et 730, il était issu de la noblesse lombarde et originaire de Cividade del Friuli, où il commença ses études. Élève de Flavien, un grammairien de Pavie, il reçut une excellente formation en latin et étudié le grec, le droit et la philosophie. Il fut présent en tant que conseiller aux côtés de Ratichis, l'antépénultième roi lombard au pouvoir entre 744 et 749, à la cour de Pavie (où il assumait peut-être, outre ses fonctions cléricales, des charges dans la chancellerie). Il fut également le précepteur d'Adalperge, fille du dernier roi lombard Didier, née vers 740 et décédée après février 788 : il la suivit après son mariage avec le duc Archetis II de Bénévent (en fonction entre 758 et 787), vers 762.

Alors même qu'on estime généralement que Paul Diacre entra comme moine à l'abbaye du Mont-Cassin (l'événement est souvent daté d'après la conquête du royaume lombard par Charlemagne en 774), cette hypothèse est toujours discutée. Elle est invalidée par R. McKitterick ; à l'inverse, W. Pohl et M. Costambeys considèrent que la lettre adressée à Théodemar en 783, dans laquelle Paul évoque sa nostalgie du monastère du Mont-Cassin, est une preuve suffisante pour affirmer qu'il y fut moine. F. Bougard affirme que malgré la difficulté d'en fixer la date ou la raison, sa prise d'habit ne fait pas de doute. En mars 776, Arechis, III, fils du duc, fut de son implication dans une révolte menée contre la souveraineté franque par le duc du Frioul, Rotgaud, fut emprisonné en France et vit ses biens familiaux confisqués. Paul Diacre obtint le pardon de Charlemagne lorsqu'il se rendit à sa cour en 782 après lui avoir envoyé une épître mérovinge, les Versus ad regem precando. Entre 782 et 785, 786, ou 787, il séjourna à la cour du souverain — où il fréquenta notamment Paulin d'Aquilée, Pierre de Pise et Alcuin — et y composa des poèmes et des textes grammaticaux et historiques.
